Many thanks to the Women's Institute for their annual lunch and euchre. The lunch was plentiful and delicious. We really enjoyed it and look forward to next year.

"It might as well be spring"

The lengthening daylight hours signal to plants, especially those with growing parts above the ground, that the new growing season is at hand (interesting that "lencten" the old Anglo-Saxon word for spring gave us our word length, lengthen and of course Lent).

As March begins, houseplants that have been dormant over winter start to grow. This is the time to water them more often, slowly increase the amount given and add small amounts of fertilizer. This is also a good time to re-pot in fresh soil any plants that may need it. If you think the plant needs more room, just go one pot size bigger. Remember however, some plants, such as clivia, must be potbound before they will bloom.

March is the month that the Nobleton and King City Horticultural Society begins its new season with its first 2007 meeting. It will be March 26 at 8 p.m. at Nobleton Community Hall, with popular horticulturist Frank Kershaw as guest speaker.

By the way, look for the society's planter entry in the Public police complaints down a bit

The number of public complaints filed against York Regional Police has been dropping slightly over the last couple of years.

The Police Services Board recently received a report from Chief Armand La Barge summarizing public complaints.

In 2006, local police received 116 public complaints compared to 119 in 2005 and 124 in 2004. The actual strength of the service at the end of 2006 was 1,229 sworn officers. The ratio of conduct complaints for 2006 of .09 is one of the lowest ratios when compared to other large police services in Ontario.

Last year, York Regional Police responded to 224,992 demands for service and issued 117,824 provincial offences. La Barge told the board the service remains vigilant in communicating its values and code of professional ethics and this is reflected in the decreasing number of public complaints since 2004.
